LYRICS

Well there are voices,
I hear 'em in the leaves,
I see 'em in the windows,
And I feel 'em in the breeze,

There are voices,
They're coming with the days,
They're shattered at the edges,
And they're gnawing in the haze,

Well there are voices,
I hear 'em in the leaves,
They're calling for the sinners,
And they're calling for me,

Well there are voices,
They're calling to us all,
Found my name on a canvas,
Found my blood on the wall,

There are voices,
And I can hear them come,
Sit back and watch them listen,
Whip snaps then we run,

There are voices,
They're turning in the rain,
They lose their fluorescence,
But they blind us all the same,

There are voices,
I hear 'em in the leaves,
While they're tapping on the windows,
We'll be gasping in the breeze,

I heard those voices,
Didn't know what they said,
And I'll be running with the voiceless,
Till the day that I'm dead.
